

IV CLASS

School.

Every Monday morning,
Mother wakes me up,
I stay in bed,
Till ten past eight,
Come to school at ten to nine,
I make it just in time.

By: Eithne Hartley.

Beware.

Beware, beware, beware,
The fearsome witch is here,
She eats toads and she eats frogs,
Beware, the witch is here.

By: Rachel Maloney.

Tyrannosaurs Rex.

The tyrant king of lizards.
Over seven metres high.
Swishes his powerful tail,
With his head held to the sky.
The tyrant king fights for his life,
But up with a roar,
The tyrant king is champ once more.

By: Charles Devlin.

Hands.

Hands, hands big and small,
Five little fingers on them all,
Useful when we have to do,
Little jobs old and new.

One is left and one is right,
All with nails, which we sometimes bite,
From lines and furrows on our palms.
Some people make future plans.

By: Mark O'Dea.

Cousins.

I have a cousin her name is Kate,
She was born just a week ago,
She has a brother his name is Jonathan,
You could call them the gruesome twosome,
O yes there's one more she is Ann-Marie,
She is a different story.

By; Mark O'Dea.

School.

I hate school,
I don't know why,
I hate school,
O why, why, why.
When I go into school,
Teacher says sit down,
And I do it without any frown.

By: Mark O'Dea.

Winter.

Winter can be very cold,
The trees are bare,
There's a chill in the air.
We walk up to school,
As snug as a rug,
Hip, hip, hip hurray,
The heat is on today.

By: Mark O'Dea.

SPRINGTIME

Springtime is a green time
when birds begin to build high upon the tree tops
little nests are filled.
Flowers come bursting from buds
to brighten up our day.
Oh ! how beautiful the world is
Thank you God I pray.

Carol Moran

COLOURS

Pink, red, orange and blue
are four of our brightest colours.
Indigo, violet and purple
brighten the day for you.
The colours so gay
cheer up a dull day.

Helen Flaherty.

Sunday Blues.

On Sunday night as I lie in bed,
A sudden thought comes into my head,
"I've forgot something to myself I said,
Was it something I mislaid?
Oh no! school tomorrow,
The thought I dread,
Then I remember, I give a yelp,
I forgot to do my homework, HELP.....

By: Aislinn Conway.